

Quality...

HomeLife, Inc.

Residential Solutions for People with Challenging Needs.

Handled with Care.

At Homelife, Inc. meeting specific standards of quality is part of our every day operation. Defining the process to assure that quality programming leads to an improved "quality of life" is not always easy. We are committed to a continuous method of trying to understand and improve program quality, and how that translates to improved living for our consumers. Our creative home programs are designed based on years of thoughtful reflection on the valued feedback provided by customers including families, case managers, consumers, and accreditation agencies.

Our CARF (Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities) accreditation in psychosocial rehabilitation programs validates the success of our drive to listen and learn about quality from the people who matter...our customers. Our services for persons with challenging needs secondary to Traumatic Brain Injury, Mental Illness and/or other cognitive impairments are provided in ascetically pleasing homes that our staff and customers would be proud to call home. We offer nurturing family environments with opportunities to work and develop friendships and relationships.

You can be confident that Homelife, Inc. has made a commitment to continually enhancing the quality of living, and providing residential solutions for persons with challenging needs. For more information call toll free at 1-888-TALKHOME (1-888-805-5466).
